POLICEMEN AS
LAW BREAKERS.

Lawyer Goff Shows that in Nearly Every Case Only a Fine Is Imposed.

APPO'S ACCUSER A WITNESS.

Convicted Sixteen Times and Yet Coleman Still Wears a

WILLIAMS'S RECORD PROBED.

Many Charges on File Against Him, but He Was Steadily Promoted.

Chief Counsel Goff, of the Lexow Committee, had prepared a novel sensation for the second day of his Fall campaign in the investigation of the Police Department. He had subpoenaed all the members of the force who had been convicted of clubbing citizens in the last three years, and who are still retaining their places on the "Finest."

Mr. Moss says that there are ninety or more such men on the force, and they all seemed to be in the court-room this morning. They took complete pos-

POLICEMAN COLEMAN.
Session of the space inside the railing, and were the objects of no little curiosity to the other spectators who were there.

"This beats Barnum's will-beast show all to pieces," said Mr. Moss, in his gentle, joking way. "We think we have ever clubbed on the force here this morning, and we propose to have some fun with them. At least we shall try and find out how it is they manage to keep their places on the force after they have been convicted, some of them several times, of outrageous brutality towards helpless citizens."

"The police records show that during the last three years only four men have been dismissed for clubbing, although, as I say, more than ninety have been convicted of this offense before the Police Commissioners, and of these four, three were charged with clubbing other policemen."

The "fanning" brigade, as it may properly be called, for the New York Police never club a citizen, he simply "fane" him, represented every premise in the city, and before the hour for opening the proceedings arrived it had grown so large numerically that the overflow had to be accommodated in the corridor.

MELANCHOLIA, NOT POISON.

A GROUP OF INTERESTED POLICEMEN.
Not said that they were very different from any other collection of individuals that might be brought together by chance, but when their record and character were disclosed it was a different matter to imagine all sorts of dreadful things about them, although their demeanor was very quiet and even amiable, as well it might be considering the ordeal that was in store for them.

Before Chairman Lexow called the Committee to order at 11 o'clock the few spectators who had found their way into the courtroom early in the morning had been put out to make room for the chief, and the brigade of bluecoats and brass buttons had every seat in the place to itself.

Police Board, the Chief Clerk of the Lexow Committee, on hand again with several headquarters filled with documents from the records, it was said.

"PULL" NOT TO COUNT

Police Commissioners Called Upon to Make New Rules.

Board of Examiners Insist Upon a Conference with Them.

Pres. Martin Opposes a Change That Would Strip the Board of Power.

The Board of Police Commissioners this afternoon received a communication from the Committee on Civil Service Examinations requesting that the Police Commissioners confer with the Examining Board for the purpose of amending the rules governing the examination and appointment of applicants to the police force.

The communication stated that the testimony taken before the Senate Investigating Committee establishes the fact that, in many instances, appointments and promotions are made for reasons other than merit.

Reference is made to their recent report of Supt. Byrnes, in which it is stated that a large number of officers have obtained their positions through means other than meritorious service; and that, as a result, it has a great tendency to impair the discipline of the Department, and to make the members careless and indifferent in the performance of their duty.

The latter also states that it is openly charged, and the charge is publicly credited, that this "other means" referred to is, in many instances, payment of money for the places received.

"It is unfortunately true," the letter continues, "that the civil-service rules, as at present framed, do not materially hinder the existence of such a practice. It is the opinion of this Committee that, through proper revision of these rules might be made to preclude the possibility of practices of that sort."

The letter further stated that the Committee believed that the proposed revision being given careful and immediate attention.

The report recommended a remedy for the alleged abuse, and that all persons on the eligible lists should be appointed in order of merit, and that no person should be promoted on any other basis.

As all policemen are now appointed on thirty days' probation, the Committee declares that there would not be any reason why such a rule should not be enforced.

This recommendation was repeated in the communication received to-day. The rules, it was declared, as at present enforced, allowed the making of appointments, and the making of promotions, on any basis, and that the Commission, in making of appointments, should be guided by the following principles:

"In the case of promotions, there are stronger reasons why the order of excess should be followed, and the men selected should be those who are best qualified for the position."

The police records show that during
the last three years only four men have been dismissed for clubbing, although, as I say, more than ninety have been convicted of this offense before the Police Commissioners, and of these four, three
men."

STEWART'S FATAL ERROR.

Gave a Seaman Carbolie Acid Instead of Black Draught.

Capt. Robertson, of the steamer Ten-asserim, which arrived this morning from Demerara, reported that on Sept.
28 Andrew Miller, third engineer, aged thirty-four, a native of Staffordshire, went aft to the cabin and asked Ship's Steward Neil McInnes for a dose of black draught. The steward gave him a dose of carbolie acid by mistake.

Antidotes were instantly given, and everything possible done, but Miller became unconscious in a few minutes and died at 6:15 P. M. At 10 A.
M. the next day the ship's engine was stopped and the body was buried at sea.

A Bold Thief's Haul in a Brooklyn Jewelry Store.

He Had Asked Proprietor Healey to Repair His Watch.

Then He Snatched a Tray of Set Gems and Escaped.

A daring robbery was committed in Brooklyn at 1 o'clock this afternoon, when a thief snatched a tray full of diamonds from a showcase in Henry Healey's jewelry store, at 331 Myrtle avenue, and escaped.

The thief was about forty-five years old, 5 feet 10 inches in height, and wore a sandy mustache closely cropped. He had evidently laid his plans in advance.
When he entered Mr. Healey's store, a few minutes before 1 o'clock, there was no one there except the proprietor.

"I want to get my watch repaired," he said, placing a cheap nickel time-piece on the counter.

Healey picked the watch up and took it to his work bench in the rear of the store.

While examining the watch Mr. Healey heard a scuffling noise, and turning around he saw the man dash out of the front door with his arms folded across his breast.

Healey hastened to the show case and discovered the loss of the tray of diamonds and jewelry. He suspected, however, that the robber had accomplices outside, and fearing that they might steal more goods if he left the store he stood in the doorway and shouted for the police.

When an officer arrived the thief was nowhere in sight.

Mr. Healey says the tray contained six rings and two studs. One of the rings was set with ten diamonds and another with six. There were also three solitaires, weighing one and one-half, seven-eighths and two and one-half karats each.

On receiving a report of the robbery Capt. Hardy of the Clermont avenue station, detailed a number of detectives and policemen in citizens' clothes to look for the thief, who wore a dark gray cutaway suit and black derby hat.

The police estimate Mr. Healey's loss at $450.

TO AID RAPID TRANSIT.

Letters from Citizens Read Before the Commission To-day.

The Rapid Transit Commission met this afternoon. There were present Messrs. Orr, Low, Steinway and Claflin and Counsel Henry R. Beckman and Engineer William B. Parsons.

Word was received from the Police Commissioners that the ballots were ready.

Letters offering assistance in carrying a public rapid transit measure were read from J. E. Bausch, Chairman of the Central Labor Union, and S. G.
Hain, Chairman of the Riverside Park Property Owners' Association.

Reports were then read from Counsel Beckman, in which he said that the city might easily take up the bonds, but if the result of the election was against that plan that the Commission would offer the franchise to the highest bidder.

KNIVES OUT
IN TAMMANY.

Indications that Some of the Braves Will Fight a Gilroy Ticket.

Rivals for the Leadership Will Make No Effort to Save Him from Himself.

DEFEAT WOULD DEPOSE HIM.

And That Might Seat Either County Clerk Purroy or Grant in Croker's Vacant Chair.

Tammany Hall politics is in a bad way just now, and Tammany's county ticket is likely to meet with severe treatment at the hands of the factions created by Mayor Gilroy's seizure of the leadership.

It is expected that the county ticket will be prepared for the Convention by Mayor Gilroy, Police Commissioners
John C. Sheehan and James J. Martin, Police Justice Barney Martin, Excise Commissioner Dalton, Corporation Counsel Clark, Sheriff Sexton and perhaps one or two others of the faction known as Gilroy's clique, nearly all of whom are office-holders.

There may be very little opposition to such a ticket in the Convention. The opposition will come after the candidates are named and at the polls.

This is Gilroy's first campaign as boss of Tammany, and if the ticket he selects is snuffed under Mr. Gilroy's leadership is apt to come to a sudden end. Tammany likes a successful leader, but it has no use for an unsuccessful one. That is the reason Mr. Croker retired while there was still a chance to preserve some of his laurels. He could see nothing but defeat ahead, and retired.

Now, if Gilroy's ticket can be snuffed down, the result will mean the end of the beginning of somebody else.

Among Mr. Gilroy's bitter rivals for the leadership of Tammany is County Clerk Henry D. Purroy, and ex-Boss Croker's chief following in Tammany is with Purroy. It includes such workers as Sullivan, Scully, Boyle, Scannell, Delmore, Shea, Dunn, Featherston, Reilly, Sea-bold and Keating, all of whom have expressed more or less dissatisfaction with Gilroy's official and political actions.

Ex-Mayor Grant has a personal following, too, that is not friendly to Gilroy, and which includes leaders Murphy, Plunkett, Deolung, McMahon and Sullivan.

County Clerk Purroy and ex-Mayor Grant are not inclined to interfere to save Gilroy from himself at this interesting period. It is said that they have practically agreed between themselves that this is an off year for Tammany anyhow, and that while there is very little chance for saving anything from the wreck of the third ticket, they will let Gilroy and his clique go down with it.

So it is pretty certain that they will let Gilroy and his clique go down with it.
It is not likely that they will give any active support to it. They may give it passive support, it is said, but not that active, enthusiastic, run-around-and-get-out the vote sort that characterized them when Croker was boss.

In view of this condition of affairs the union ticket, with the proper aid at the head, ought to win in a canter.

RACE TRACK, NARRAGANSETT PARK, Oct. 2.—From all indications the fall meeting of the Narragansett Park Association will be a big success. The opening day gave every evidence of this fact. The attendance was satisfactory to the management, and consisted main-

The visitors from New York were the most numerous, and were headed by the figures of the course. The weather was fair, though early in the day somewhat chilly. The track was in good condition, and fast.

The card was made up of six races, all being well filled, and scratches were very scarce. The steeplechase seemed to provide the most excitement to the outside visitors. The management anticipated a big shipment of horses from Morris Park at the end of that meet-
